

Common symptoms include increased thirst, frequent urination, increased hunger, fatigue, blurred vision, and slow wound healing.

Some patients remain asymptomatic for years, making early screening important.